Nominate a new product category for possible inclusion into the WELS scheme

In February 2024, WELS will be inviting stakeholders to nominate new product categories (water-using or water-saving products) for consideration for inclusion into the WELS scheme, to evolve the WELS scheme and to drive further water savings in the community. After the nomination is submitted, there will be a staged assessment process to determine if the product is included.

ACIF releases Landmark Review of Building Confidence Report Implementation

The Australian Construction Industry Forum (ACIF) is pleased to release a comprehensive review of the implementation of the Building Confidence Report recommendations. The review found that the states and territories have made great progress towards implementing the recommendations, but there is still some work to be done. ACIF commends federal, state and territory ministers and public servants for their efforts in implementing the recommendations, and believes that they deserve considerable credit.
